KING OTTOKAR'S SCEPTRE

MAGNET

KING OTTOKAR'S SCEPTRE

It is one of the few seals we know of from that country. But there must be others, and I am going to Sylldavia to study the problem on the spot.

The Sylldavian Ambassador, an old friend of mine, has promised to give me letters of introduction. I hope I shall be allowed to go through the historic national archives. A cigarette? ...

No, thank you... And when are you leaving?

As soon as I have found a secretary. At least, rather more than a secretary: I really need someone to take care of all the details of my journey, like hotels, passport, luggage and soon.

But I see that you have become interested in sigillography too. Let me have your name and address and I will send you my booklet: 'How to become a sigillographer.'

How very kind of you...

He's going... Quick, meet him on the stairs...

Steady!... Here he comes!

That's a funny place to put a watch right...

Got it!... Wonderful, the way a miniature camera can be hidden in a watch...

Here!...

Is it O.K.?

!?

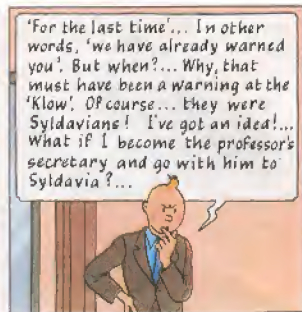

He's alone! ... We'll fix him! ... Let him gradually close up on us ...

We're catching up!

Now we've got 'em! ...

Now then, jam on the brakes ... Wham! ...

!?

This time I think we've really shaken him off for good.

I only hope I'm not too late!...

? ? ? !

Ah! It's you, Tintin. Come to help me my packing?...

Have you finish

I... I'm sorry, but I don't understand!... I thought I heard you cry out and shout for help... So I rushed straight round...

Me shouting for help?.. I'm afraid I don't know what you're talking about.

But it's extraordinary!... I can't have been dreaming!... I quite definitely heard shouts for help...

Next morning...

It's very kind of you to come and see me off.

But of course we've come...

To be precise: of course...

Professor, may I introduce Mr. Thomson and Mr. Thompson, of the C.I.D. ... Professor Alembick, sigillographer.

How do you do?

Very well, thank you.

Oh, you've got new hats?

Yes, aren't they smart?... Pure English felt, extra-light: only £3-95. Wonderful bargain!

All passengers for Prague, this way please...

Well, goodbye, and bon voyage!...

And good luck in Syl-davia!

Thanks.

Compression! Petrol on! Contact!

Aha!...

Here's some good news... The Syldavian government has put a special aircraft at our disposal. Look...

Professor Alembick, passenger aboard aircraft No. 573 00-AGE. Frankfurt Airport. Special plane for Klow will meet you at Prague. Stop. Best wishes... It's signed Schlozitch, Air Minister...

Sweets... Sandwiches... Chocolates... Cigarettes...

I think they're calling us...

All passengers for Prague, please take your seats in the aft...

It's really very odd...

Oh, well, let's forget it and look at this brochure...

SYLDAVIA KINGDOM OF THE
BLACK PELICAN

SYLDAVIA

THE KINGDOM OF THE BLACK PELICAN

AMONG the many enchanting places which deservedly attract foreign visitors with a love for picturesque ceremony and colourful folklore, there is one small country which, although relatively unknown, surpasses many others in interest. Isolated until modern times because of its inaccessible position, this country is now served by a regular air-line network, which brings it within the reach of all who love unspoiled beauty, the proverbial hospitality of a peasant people, and the charm of medieval customs which still survive despite the march of progress.

This is Sylavia.

Sylavia is a small country in Eastern Europe, comprising two great valleys: those of the river Vladir, and its tributary, the Moltus. The rivers meet at Klow, the capital (122,000 inhabitants). These valleys are flanked by wide plateaux covered with forests, and are surrounded by high, snow-capped mountains. In the fertile Sylavian plains are corn-lands and cattle pastures. The subsoil is rich in minerals of all kinds.

Numerous thermal and sulphur springs gush from the earth, the chief centres being at Klow (cardiac diseases) and Kragoniedin (rheumatic complaints).

The total population is estimated to be 642,000 inhabitants.

Sylavia exports wheat, mineral-water from Klow, firewood, horses and violinists.

HISTORY OF SYLDAVIA

Until the Vth century, Sylavia was inhabited by nomadic tribes of unknown origin.

Overrun by the Slavs in the Vth century, the country was conquered in the Xth century by the Turks, who drove the Slavs into the mountains and occupied the plains.

In 1127, Hveghi, leader of a Slav tribe, swooped down from the mountains at the head of a band of partisans and fell upon isolated Turkish villages, putting all who resisted him to the sword. Thus he rapidly became master of a large part of Sylavian territory.

A great battle took place in the valley of the Moltus near Zileheroum, the Turkish capital of Sylavia, between the Turkish army and Hveghi's irregulars.

Enfeebled by long inactivity and badly led by incompetent officers, the Turkish army put up little resistance and fled in disorder.

Having vanquished the Turks, Hveghi was elected king, and given the name Muskar, that is, The Brave (Musk: 'brave' and Kar: 'king').

The capital, Zileheroum, was renamed Klow, that is, Freetown, (Kloho: 'to free', and Ow: 'town').

After a XVth century miniature

H.M. King Muskar XII, the present ruler of Syldavia in the uniform of Colonel of the Guards

Muskar was a wise king who lived at peace with his neighbours, and the country prospered. He died in 1168, mourned by all his subjects.

His eldest son succeeded to the throne with the title of Muskar II. Unlike his father, Muskar II lacked authority and was unable to keep order in his kingdom. A period of anarchy replaced one of peaceful prosperity.

In the neighbouring state of Borduria the people observed Syldavia's decline, and their king profited by this opportunity to invade the country. Borduria annexed Syldavia in 1195.

For almost a century Syldavia groaned under the foreign yoke. In 1275 Baron Almazout repeated the exploits of Hveghj by coming down from the hills and routing the Bordurians in less than six months.

He was proclaimed King in 1277, taking the name of Ottokar. He was, however, much less powerful than Muskar.

The barons who had helped him in the campaign against the Bordurians forced him to grant them a charter, based on the English Magna Carta signed by King John (Lackland). This marked the beginning of the feudal system in Syldavia.

Ottokar I of Syldavia should not be confused with the Ottokars (Přemysls) who were Dukes, and later Kings, of Bohemia.

This period was noteworthy for the rise in power of the nobles, who fortified their castles and maintained bands of armed mercenaries, strong enough to oppose the King's forces.

But the true founder of the kingdom of Syldavia was Ottokar IV, who ascended the throne in 1370.

From the time of his accession he initiated widespread reforms. He raised a powerful army and subdued the arrogant nobles, confiscating their wealth.

He fostered the advancement of the arts, of letters, commerce and agriculture.

He united the whole nation and gave it that security, both at home and abroad, so necessary for the renewal of prosperity.

It was he who pronounced those famous words: 'Eih bennek, eih blavek', which have become the motto of Syldavia.

The origin of this saying is as follows:

One day Baron Staszrvich, son of one of the dispossessed nobles whose lands had been forfeited to the crown, came before the sovereign and recklessly claimed the throne of Syldavia.

The King listened in silence, but when the presumptuous baron's speech ended with a demand that he deliver up his sceptre, the King rose and cried fiercely: 'Come and get it!'

Mad with rage, the young baron drew his sword, and before the retainers could intervene, fell upon the King.

The King stepped swiftly aside, and as his adversary passed him, carried forward by the impetus of his charge, Ottokar struck him a blow on the head with the sceptre, laying him low and at the same time crying in Syldavian: 'Eih bennek, eih blavek!', which can be said to mean: 'If you gather thistles, expect prickles'. And turning to his astonished court he said: 'Hont soit qui mal y pense!'

Then, gazing intently at his sceptre, he addressed it in the following words: 'O Sceptre, thou hast saved my life. Be henceforward the true symbol of Syldavian Kingship. Woe to the king who loses thee, for I declare that such a man shall be unworthy to rule thereafter.'

And from that time, every year on St. Vladimir's Day each successor of Ottokar IV has made a great ceremonial tour of his capital.

He bears in his hand the historic sceptre, without which he would lose the right to rule; as he passes, the people sing the famous anthem:

Syldavians unite!
Praise our King's might:
The Sceptre his right!

Captain, what I have to say is of the utmost importance... May I speak to you in private?...

Er... Yes...
Leave us alone...

First, may I ask you a question?... I read in a brochure about Syldavia that if your King loses his sceptre he will be forced to abdicate. Is that true?...

As a matter of fact it is... But how does this concern you?

I'll tell you. I am certain there's a conspiracy against King Muskar XII, and that certain people will try to steal the sceptre from him!

What's that you say?...
What makes you imagine such a thing?

I'll explain... But first, are you sure we are not overheard?

Definitely not.
Go on...

This must be serious.
They've been in there nearly an hour...

You have just rendered a great service to my country: I thank you. I will telegraph at once to Klow and have Professor Alembick arrested. I'm sure I can rely on you for absolute secrecy...

Of course... But I must be on my way... Can I... hire a car?

There isn't a single car in the village. But tomorrow is market-day in Klow. You can go with a peasant who is leaving here today. But you won't arrive there until morning.

Too bad, but I have no choice. I'll go with the peasant.

Hello?... Yes, this is Klow 3324... Yes, Central Committee... Trovik speaking... Oh it's you Wizskitotz... What?... Tintin?... But that's impossible; the pilot has just told me... What?... Into some straw!... Szplug! He must be prevented from reaching Klow at all costs!... Do it how you like... Yes, ring up Sirov...

Hello?... Yes, this is Sirov... Hello Wizskitotz... Yes... A young boy, on the road to Klow... In a peasant's cart... Good, we'll be waiting in the forest... Yes, we'll leave at once... Goodbye!...

Look out!... Here they come!...

Hands up!...

Yes, I am singing tonight at the Winter Garden in Klow... Would you like to hear me now?...

I'd love to.

Ah, my beauty past compare: these jewels bright I wear!...

Was I ever Margari-i-ta?

It's lucky the windows are strong!

Hello?... Yes, this is Wizskitobz... Ah, it's you Sirov... Well?... What?... Szplung! ...So it's not your fault?... Perhaps you think it's mine, eh?... What?... If he hadn't stuttered so?... If!... If!... You can get round anything with 'if'... I'll telephone to the Chief of Police at Zlip... Yes, he's one of us... He'll stop him on the road.

Well, how did you like that?...

V-very much indeed!...

In that case, just to please you I'll sing something else!

Where is the boy who is travelling with you?

He got out earlier on. He'd forgotten something at the Coachman's Rest, so he went back...

I would have given any excuse to escape!

Meanwhile, in Klow...

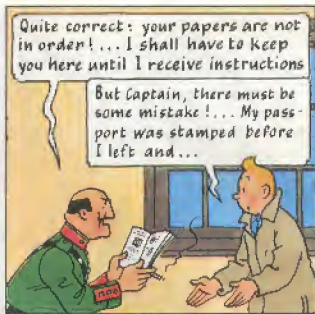

So, you wish to have access to the Treasure House to examine the national archives?... I won't conceal from you that this is a privilege rarely accorded to a foreigner, but since our ambassador has vouched for you, I think His Majesty will look favourably upon your request

That's him... We'll ask for his papers...

Your papers are not in order! ... Come with us to the police station!

Quite correct: your papers are not in order! ... I shall have to keep you here until I receive instructions

But Captain, there must be some mistake! ... My passport was stamped before I left and ...

I am sorry, but I cannot allow you to proceed. Take him away!

Captain! ... You must listen! ... I have something important to tell you! ... I ...

Hello?... Wizskitotz?... This is Szplodj ... I've got our fine bird! ... Yes, we simply picked him up ... Now what do you want us to do with him?... Yes... Yes... He obviously mustn't get to Klow... I'll think it over... That's it, ring up in the morning... Good bye...

While I cool my heels here, goodness knows what's going on in Klow...

Aaaou aaah! ... It's getting dark... I'd better try and get some sleep, as there's nothing else to do...

Next day ...

This document bearing the royal signature will admit you to the Treasure Chamber. Lieutenant Kromir will escort you there...

The regalia is housed in the keep of Kropow Castle. A special guard is mounted over it.

In the name of the King!

Professor, please come with me.

The regalia seems well guarded!

It is! The man who is clever enough to steal it hasn't been born!

There is His Majesty's regalia, Professor!...

And this is the Muniments Room, which adjoins the Treasure Chamber. You must forgive me, but two guards will remain with you for as long as you are here. The doors will also be locked from the outside. Those are the orders. I hope you will not be offended.

Not in the least...

Meanwhile...

You are to take this young man to Klow. But be careful!... He is a dangerous ruffian who has been meddling in State secrets... In fact, I've been given to understand, on high authority, that it'd be a good thing if he never arrived in Klow.

These are your orders... You, as the driver, will stage a breakdown. You will get out to look at the engine, and the others will follow... The prisoner will then try to escape and... You understand me?

Yes, sir!... But what if he doesn't try to get away?

Don't worry!... He will!...

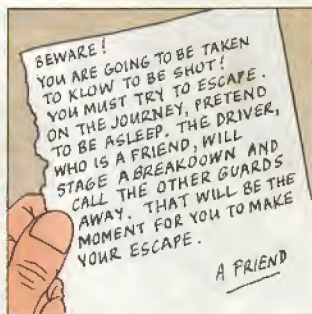

I wonder who can have sent me this?... A Friend?... What Friend?...

BEWARE!
YOU ARE GOING TO BE TAKEN TO KLOW TO BE SHOT!
YOU MUST TRY TO ESCAPE.

to stop me speaking to him!

Take care, Sir!... This is the young anarchist who tri- ed ...

Don't shoot, Sir!... Please listen!... I am not an anarchist. I wanted to warn you... Even at this moment those scoundrels may be trying to steal your sceptre!

It's the truth, Sir. I am certain that Professor Alembick is an impostor. Coming to Syldavia to study the archives was only a blind. He and his accomplices plan to steal King Ottokar's sceptre, and so force you to give up your throne!

By Vladimir! Can it be?

Meanwhile...

And this man is in with them, Sir... That is why he tried to stop me speaking to you!...

He's in the plot too?

It's a lie, Sir!

He is lying, Sir, and I will ...

You will return to the palace at once and await my orders! ... I myself will go to Kropow Castle with this young man and prove for myself the truth of his allegations ...

We must hurry, Sir... I'm sure there's not a moment to lose ...

That's that... May we now go into the Treasure Chamber, and photograph the crown and sceptre?...

Certainly.

Next morning

So, Lord Chamberlain, the sceptre has not been recovered yet?...

Alas no, sire... But I have secured the services of two detectives of international repute... expect them any minute now...

THUD

Ah, I think I know who they are.

What's going on?... Go and see.

Er... We are the detectives who... Hm... We... we slipped... and

Yes... and we fell down...

Sire, may I present Mr. Thomson and Mr. Thompson, certified detectives...

Welcome to Syltavia, gentlemen

Majesty, your sire is very good... Good Majesty... no, I mean...

To be precise... it's a majesty, Your Pleasure...

We thank you for answering our call so promptly, and for placing your experience at the service of the Crown... This is Mr. Tintin, who will give you all the details of this business...

Tintin! Well I never!

This is the position... Someone has stolen the King's sceptre!... When His Majesty and I entered the Treasure Chamber we found the Governor of the Castle, two of his men, the photographer Czarlitz, and Professor Alembick, whom you know. All of them were in a coma, and none of the five came to until this morning...

Have they been questioned?...

Yes, and their statements agree on all points. Herr Czarlitz decided to use a flash-bulb. After the flash the room filled with thick smoke. They began to choke, and then passed out...

Good. But... hm... did anyone think of searching these people?...

Of course! Even the guards' halberds were taken to pieces, and the camera tripod, to make sure the sceptre wasn't hidden there. They tapped every inch of the room looking for a secret passage, but found nothing! The only door through which the thief could escape was guarded by two sentries, who saw no one leave...

Your Majesty, this is all childish simplicity!... With your permission we will go to Kropow Castle and demonstrate how your sceptre was stolen...

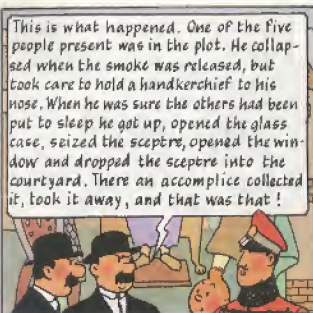

Very well, we'll go!...

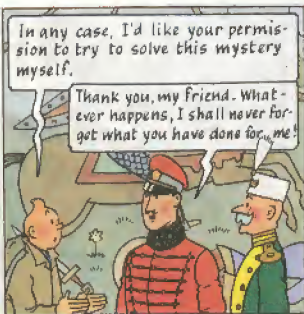

Goodness, they're smarter than I thought!

Be careful: the marble is very slippery...

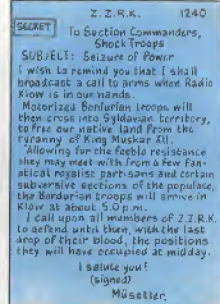

Next day...

That's two nights in the open... I'm tired out!... If I don't find the way soon I'll never get back in time!

A Bordurian Fighter!

He's lowered his under-carriage.. Where's he landing?

If I could grab one of those planes I'd be in Klow in less than an hour...

Everything O.K.?

Yes, nothing unusual... just reconnaissance along the frontier.

You know, I've been tipped off that Musterer will give his broadcast at midday tomorrow... And an hour later our squadron will land at Klow.

?!*

Flat out for Klow!...

It's getting dark... That's annoying. I shan't be there before nightfall...

Hello? Ack-Ack H.Q.?... This is Listening Post 34... A Bordurian aircraft has crossed the frontier, heading for Klow... What shall we do?

You have your orders, Lieutenant. Shoot it down!...

Ah, a signpost! ... That's a stroke of luck!

Sixteen miles: that's five hours' walk! ...

A mere trifle!

A farm! ... Stables! ... If only I could borrow a horse...

That's a splendid idea!

Aha, here's a horse! ... Whoa there! ... Good, here's a saddle too! ... Whoa now! Gently does it! ...

On the whole I think we'd better go on foot.

Why not? ... A little walk will do us good.

That night...

Things are grave, Sire! ... the people are suspicious: there are rumours that the sceptre is missing. Furthermore...

... Bordurian shops were looted again yesterday. These incidents are of course the work of agitators in the pay of a foreign power, but we are faced with a dangerous situation. And if Your Majesty appears before the crowds without the sceptre, I fear...

Rest assured, Prime Minister, there will be no bloodshed. I will abdicate.

No, Sir, you will not abdicate...

TINTIN!

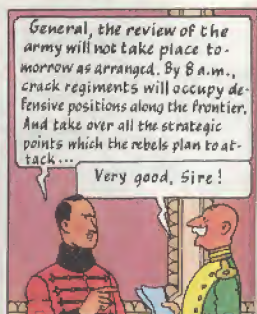

Your Majesty, I have your sceptre with me now!

Saved!

Here it is! ... I ... Great snakes! I've lost it on the way!

My Lords, Ladies and Gentlemen. Never in our long history has the Order of the Golden Pelican been conferred upon a foreigner. But today with the full agreement of Our ministers, We bestow this high distinction upon Mr. Tintin, to express Our gratitude for the great services he has rendered to Our country.

Tintin, Knight of the Order of the Golden Pelican...

Some days later...

I expect you will like to hear the result of our enquiries. You already know that Müstler, leader of the Iron Guard, has been arrested with most of his followers. Calling themselves the Iron Guard they were in fact the Z.R.K., the Zylav Zentral Revolutionär Komitatz, whose aims were the deposition of our King, and the annexation of our country by Bureldia...

Professor Alembick was also arrested at Müstler's home where he hid after the theft of the sceptre. This little book was found on him...

Stassanov, Igor. Ambassador. A very close friend.

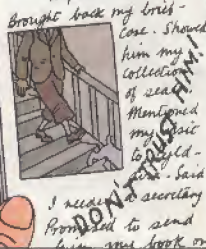

Met him in Belgrade in 1913 at a sigillo-ographical congress. Have me a letter of introduction to study national archives in Klov. He

I know him. He's the man who collapsed in my room! But look! That's me!...

Tintin. Reporter.

It's incredible!... But what was this note book for?...

So that they would know everyone who went to see the real Professor Alembick... Here is another photograph found at Müstler's house which is the key to the puzzle...
